LETTER FROM OUR LEADERSHIP

Dear Friends,

Welcome to our First Comprehensive Annual Report for The National Society of The Colonial Dames of America: celebrating all that your gifts enabled us to achieve in 2016, our 125th Anniversary Year!

Entrusted with History's Future since 1891, our 15,200 Dames across the country joined with partners and supporters to carry forward our mission of preservation, patriotic service, and education. Dames came together nationally and at the state level throughout the year to commemorate our anniversary and to honor all those Women of Vision who dedicated so much to our beloved Society, communities, and nation to ensure our legacy lives on to enrich future generations.

This impact continues today through our NSCDA support for student scholarships, historical artifact conservation, military and veterans-service donations, early American sampler documentation, historic buildings, landscape preservation, and so many other projects documented in the pages that follow. At our National Headquarters preservation and education efforts throughout the year brought our NSCDA mission to life for thousands of visitors. This year, at our 218 year-old historic house, we focused on the replacement of our failing HVAC (heating-ventilation-air cooling) system, highlighted on pages 10 - 11.

All these efforts succeed only thanks to the incredible generosity of members and friends nationwide. We hope you enjoy our new format that chronicles the national impact of the NSCDA and recognizes donations on a calendar year basis. Since this is our first year with this new format, the pages that follow recognize donations received starting September 1, 2015 (when our last Dumbarton House Annual Report concluded) and running through December 31, 2016. If you note corrections or omissions, please notify the staff at our National Headquarters.

We value our donors, volunteers, members, and staff who make our efforts possible. Together, we look forward to an exciting 2017 and invite you to join us at our National Headquarters and Museum, Dumbarton House, to see The Story of Courage, Preservation, and the Rise of a Nation in action every day.

With gratitude,

NSCDA – 125 YEARS AS LEADERS IN PRESERVATION AND EDUCATION

LOOKING BACK, LOOKING FORWARD

This was an exciting period for the NSCDA and for Dumbarton House. Two highlights were the 125th Anniversary of the NSCDA in 2016 and the major renovation and preservation project at Dumbarton House. The NSCDA celebrated the achievements of the organization and its members over 125 years while the Dumbarton House project will help to preserve the historic house for future generations.

Dumbarton House is the national headquarters of The National Society of The Colonial Dames of America, which celebrated its 125th Anniversary throughout 2016. Highlights of this special year included:

Women of Vision

This exhibition highlights exemplary Dames throughout the organization's 125-year history who have made profound and lasting contributions to their professions, communities, and to the nation. The 60,000+ Colonial Dames from 1891 to today devote themselves to the mission of preservation and education while pursuing personal professional passions worthy of commemoration.

History's Keepers: The Legacy of the NSCDA 125 years ago, a group of about thirty women and men gathered in Philadelphia to consider forming a women's organization dedicated to honoring the colonial history of the United States. The women in attendance formed the Pennsylvania Society, the first Corporate Society of what would become the NSCDA, on April 8, 1891. Within 3 years, all 13 of the original states and the District of Columbia had joined the NSCDA. Today, Corporate Societies in 43 states and DC, encompassing more than 15,000 members, work together to preserve and educate.

TIMELINE

September 1, 2015 – December 31, 2016

Dumbarton House serves as national headquarters of the NSCDA and also as a center of cultural activity in the Georgetown and wider DC community. Many well-attended programs take place regularly, including Yoga in the Park, Georgetown Walking Tours, concerts, Picnic Theater Company plays, Dumbarton House through the Holidays, school, scout and homeschooler programs, staff and volunteer trips and socials, and the monthly Book Club. Many NSCDA events are also hosted.

In this timeline, we signpost a sample of the activities taking place and share some of the highlights of the period.

The Pennsylvania Society

The Pennsylvania Society held a celebration to mark their founding on April 8th, the first state society of what later became the NSCDA, and also to celebrate the founding of the NSCDA itself. Special events included a champagne toast at the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, followed by a reception at NSCDA/PA Headquarters, and a trip to Stenton for a tour and talk.

125th Anniversary Gala Dinner

The 125th Anniversary Gala Dinner was a highlight of the Biennial Meeting in October 2016. Dames from all over the country descended on DC for the NSCDA National Board Meeting and the 61st Biennial Council in the 125th year of the NSCDA's founding. Tribute was paid to the women, past and present, who have grown the organization to now be one of the oldest and most successful historic preservation organizations in the country from preserving historic properties to providing scholarships and from facilitating citizenship ceremonies to ensuring that the history of the nation is not forgotten.

Oct 2015

NSCDA Directors' Roundtable - NSCDA museum directors, curators, and staff came together at Dumbarton House for a Roundtable Meeting, identifying ways in which they could collaborate and support each other in their preservation and education work on behalf of the Dames nationally.

Moving Day 1915 Centenary - community celebration of the 100th anniversary of Dumbarton House's move from the middle of what is now Q Street to its present location.

DUMBARTON HOUSE – PRESERVATION, RENOVATION AND INTERPRETATION

Construction work on the installation of a much-needed new HVAC (heating, ventilation, air conditioning) system at Dumbarton House began in 2016. Following extensive research into the most suitable system for our needs and logistics for its installation, the museum closed at the end of October, the collection was put into safe storage and staff moved to temporary office accommodation at Heurich House. In November, the contractors, Corbett Construction, took over the site and the construction began.

For staff offices and public areas, the new HVAC system will provide much-needed temperature control as the existing system has been failing in recent years. In addition, it will play an important role in the care of our collections as it will control not only temperature but also relative humidity for the museum. Typically, this will mean that in summertime the air in the museum will be dehumidified while in winter it will be humidified, thus providing optimum conditions for our precious objects.

Since Dumbarton House was going to be a construction site and the building evacuated, other projects that needed to be undertaken were scheduled for the same time. The window sashes were removed and conserved offsite by The Craftsmen Group, specialists in historic windows.

In addition, new interior storm windows will be installed and these will carry a filter to block UV light, thus protecting the collection from fading.

Collection storage is also being modernized, with an emphasis on space efficiency. The NSCDA Archives will be moved into a special new area with storage and a workspace being created. These improvements will help to ensure the long-term physical survival of valuable history and also enhance and support future research of the collection.

In tandem with these physical improvements to the building on site, a new interpretive plan for the museum is also being developed. Extensive research was undertaken and surveys conducted to inform the new plan which will be piloted when the museum re-opens to the public in June 2017.

In order to share Dumbarton House's experiences with a construction project in a 18-year-old historic property, and to keep in contact with our communities while the museum was closed, the innovative Preservation in Action! project was launched. This offered a variety of ways that the public and the preservation community could engage with progress and gain a unique, behind-the-scenes experience. These include a Preservation in Action! blog, regular news, photo and video updates on social media, hard-hat tours of Dumbarton House and of The Craftsmen Group's studio, a lecture on undertaking a major renovation project in an historic house (hosted at Anderson House), and programs documenting the expert re-installation of the collection.

The renovation project will be completed by April 2017, after which special programs will take place before the collection is re-installed, and during its reinstallation. In June 2017 the museum will re-open to public visitors.

While grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Institute of Museum and Library Services, and the DC Commission on Arts & Humanities provided much-appreciated support for this vital renovation, the majority of the funds were from individual donors committed to investing in the preservation of the nation's heritage for future generations.

HVAC PROJECT

In order to install our new HVAC (heating, ventilation and air conditioning) system, the Dumbarton House collection of more than 3,000 historic objects and manuscripts had to be moved to safe storage offsite and staff moved to temporary office space nearby. Then the construction crew began...

As well as providing temperature control for visitors and staff, the new system will also control relative humidity and protect our irreplaceable museum objects for future generations.

The cost of this HVAC project is $1,064,832.

WINDOWS CONSERVATION PROJECT

While the HVAC renovation was underway, Dumbarton House windows were conserved. Existing window sashes were removed and will be worked on off-site before being reinstalled in February 2017. In addition to the conservation of the actual window sashes, new interior storm windows with a filter to block UV light will be added, thus protecting the collection from fading.

This specialist window project costs $71,589.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

At Dumbarton House we offer educational field trips that help young people connect with the lives of people in the time of the new republic. Content is tailored to meet Common Core School Standards and DC and VA schools standards. These programs are free of charge to DC and Public Charter Schools, and for Title 1 schools we also provide additional funding that covers transportation costs.

The cost per school class visit is $492.
